FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Dear Parents/Carers,

Yesterday our Year 5 and 6 students participated in a session hosted by Sammy D. The Sammy D Foundation helps shape lives and change futures of young people by educating them on the impacts of bullying and violence by providing age appropriate knowledge and tools to empower children to make positive decisions for not only themselves and others, and to create a safer community for us all.

Neil Davis spoke to our students about the irreversible effect a blow to the head can have and the devastating effects this can have on many lives. Our students were taught about the importance of mateship, the power of walking away and not using violence. These messages are reinforced to our students at Thiele to ensure not only their safety, but also the safety of others.

It is important that students tell an adult or staff member and seek help at times when they are feeling vulnerable or bullied so that adults and staff can provide support and assistance. It has been brought to our attention that many students feel that they are a 'Snitch' if they report an incident of bullying or violence. This is something we are working hard to change. We are also encouraging students to tell the truth even if they have made a mistake, and through our Restorative Practice approach we work with all students to reach a common understanding of how each student involved is affected and impacted by the incident.

We request that parents/carers communicate with staff members at our school to ensure that we are informed, as students do not always tell staff at school the same things they tell parents/carers at home. It is important that we work together on these messages and encourage our children/students to not use violence to solve a problem.

Our Bully Survey informs us that our students are much more comfortable in telling an adult or staff member when an event of bullying or violence occurs and our students have reported that they feel teachers and staff members have been helpful and have supported them during these times.

We look forward to working with you to work towards a bully free, no violence school which will transfer into a bully free, no violence community and society.

Kind Regards,
Sharon Willoughby
